Presents a Mentoring Conference

How To Be an Effective and Successful Teacher

Featuring

Dr. Harry K. Wong and Rosemary Wong

Harry K. Wong is possibly the most motivating, exciting and dynamic speaker in education today.

But, most importantly, his presentations result in positive audience response. Wong leaves his audiences with practical, useful techniques for how to succeed in the classroom.

His expertise is in classroom management and student motivation. Although Dr. Wong regards himself as "a plain old classroom teacher," the record shows that he has been an excellent teacher who has shared his success with thousands of teachers internationally. Because of his achievements, Dr. Wong has been awarded the Outstanding Secondary Teacher Award, Science Teacher Achievement Recognition Award, Outstanding Biology Teacher Award, and Valley Forge Teacher's Medal. During more than 33 years in the classroom, Harry Wong developed methods which resulted in his having a zero dropout rate, no discipline problems, a 95% homework turn in factor, and the ability to demonstrate master level learning by each of his students.

Dr. Wong's presentations are of universal appeal. You are sure to enjoy yourself at this conference and leave with very practical methods to implement in your own classroom.

Afternoon sessions include:

A. Audrey Gottlieb, Adolescent Literacy Coach and Reading Specialist

Reading Strategies That Work- This workshop will provide a lesson plan framework to ensure that your classroom is meeting the needs of all learners.

B. Julia Healy, Artist and Director of Art in West Hempstead
The Creative Classroom – This hands-on workshop will provide ideas and methods to integrate art into any curriculum to engage student involvement.

C. Patricia Lannes, Director of Education at the Nassau County Museum of Art

Using Multicultural Art to Motivate Students – This workshop will present ways to look at Latin American art and engage student interest.
